

I am very satisfied with my cable broadband service. I am too far from the telco's central office to get DSL, so cable is the only broadband option. I am currently serviced by Comcast and speed and service has been solid for the year that I've had it.